MONOGRAM SPRING PROM SATURDAY

John Guedelhoffer Oratory Contest On May 9

Eight Students To Participate From Stage Of Theatre

Eight students, members of a class in Oratory taught by the Rev. Ildéphonse Rapp, C.P.P.S., will appear on the stage of the College Theatre Sunday night in the annual Guedelhoffer Oratory Contest. The program, with Father Rapp presiding as chairman, is scheduled to begin at eight o'clock.

The contest is sponsored each spring by Mr. John Guedelhoffer, '10-'13, of Indianapolis. It serves as an added incentive for members of the Oratory class, and gives them a means of self expression so vital to their work.

Preliminary finals—which were also the final exams—were held last Sunday evening, May 2, in the Theatre.

Here are the entrants with the titles of their addresses: Paul Auman—"We've Got to be Taught."

Charles Banet—"Racial Discrimination and the War."

Ralph Bushell—"Tolerance for the American Negro."

Leonard Goettemoeller—"Shall Anybody Stand Idle in the Cause of Youth."

Robert Silk—"The Boot? or the Home of the Free?"

Francis Spanbauer—"The Prophets and Our Time."

Thomas Sweeterman—"Reveille (Catholic Action)."

David Zaumeyer—"This is Worth Fighting For."

All students are cordially invited to attend the program.

Prof. Tonner Becomes Proud Grandfather

Over the week end, Professor and Mrs. Paul Tonner went to Louisville, Ky., to attend the christening of their first grandchild. Born on April 22, the child is the daughter of Professor Tonner's eldest daughter, Mrs. Ricard Cody. Her husband, St. Joe '41, is now in the air corps.

Songstress

JUNE HOWARD is the lovely singing star featured with Freddy Nagel's band. She will sing for prom-goers at the annual Monogram Spring Formal Saturday night in the Rensselaer Armory.

John Hinders Wins First Prize Award In Alumni Contest

Two Community students and Don Leavitt captured the first three places in the annual Alumni Essay Contest, according to a release from the Rev. Sylvester H. Ley, C.P.P.S., who directed the contest.

John Hinders took first prize with "The Things of a Child"; Richard J. Reimondo was in second place with "A Rhymers Like by Chance"; and Leavitt was in third place with "Chemistry as an Enrichment to Life."

Tied for fourth place were William Volk and Victor Toepe.

Volk's essay was entitled "Was Shakespeare a Catholic?"; Toepe's essay was called "Psychopathological analysis."

Fourteen students entered the contest. The judges, members of the alumni, were painstaking and thorough in their work. It is interesting to note that their decisions were quite identical. Each one expressed his opinion in favor of the high quality of the essays submitted.

Curtain Club To Hold Final Meeting Sunday

The Curtain Club will meet for the last time this year on Sunday. Norbert Landino, chairman of the Executive Committee, announces that the final meeting of the year will be accompanied with a special program for the benefit of the members who have not had a chance to perform in previous programs this semester.

During the summer, the study club on Catholic drama plans to continue activities. John Murar, chairman of the study club, announced that membership is open to all Curtain Club members who wish to take part in the activities. The club will probably restrict its work to compiling a bibliography of Catholic plays for the present.

Sanguinist Club Will Have Outing Sunday

Members of the Sanguinist Club for Catholic Action will hold their annual outing next Sunday afternoon, May 9. The outing, which proved very enjoyable last spring, will be held in some near-by woods.

On Monday evening, May 10, the members will hear two of their group, Francis Kinney and William Gray, speak on the Encyclical of Pope Pius X, "Christian Education."

Distribute Yearbook

Although waiting in line usually causes the spirits to lower, it was not the case Saturday afternoon. For at the end of the line each student knew that the long awaited yearbook, Phase, was at last to be his.

CONDOLENCE

In the name of the faculty and students of St. Joseph's, STUFF extends sympathy to the Rev. Paul F. Speckbaugh, C.P.P.S., upon the death of his mother.

Ordain Twelve Alumni At St. Charles May 9

Ordination services for twelve alumni of St. Joe will take place on May 9 in the chapel of the Provincial Motherhouse of the Society of the Precious Blood at Carthage, Ohio.

The members of the class are as follows: Daniel Raible, Robert Gaertner, James Kelly, Alvin Druhan, James Couhig, Alphonse Jungwirth, John Spatt, Werner Verhoff, Frederick O'Brien, Caspar Bonifas, Joseph Anthamatten, and Charles Bricker. They attended St. Joe from '33 to '37.

Fr. Paluszak Attends Classical Convention

The Rev. Dr. Anthony Paluszak, C.P.P.S., Chairman of the department of Classical Languages, attended the convention of the Classical Association of the middle west and south in Chicago from April 22 to 24. The convention was held at the Knickerbocker Hotel.

CONDOLENCE

In the name of the faculty and students of St. Joseph's, STUFF extends sympathy to the Rev. Joseph Sheeran, C.P.P.S., upon the death of his father.

Commerce Club Will Hear Dr. T. B. Frank

Activities for members of the Commerce Club will be brought to a close next Friday evening, May 7, at 7:30 in Science Hall, with an address by Dr. Theodore B. Frank of the Department of Modern Foreign Languages. Dr. Frank will speak on "Germany's Barter Agreements."

The achievements of the club during the past year were not as extensive as in the past but were, according to president Ed Rtter, "as numerous and successful as could be expected under present conditions."

Since few members expect to be able to return to the campus next fall, virtually all will receive the coveted Commerce Club key award before the semester ends.

All students are invited to attend Dr. Frank's lecture.

Donahue, Luchi Tie For Hanley Award

Three Ohioans Place In Science Contest

Walter Donahue, junior from Cleveland, Ohio, and Vasco Luchi, junior from Portsmouth, Ohio, deadlocked for first prize in the Hanley Science Award contest. The two students were judged equally deserving of the prize on the basis of the excellence of their essay and oral presentation, the latter of which was held in the College theatre on April 10. Kay Kennedy, third contestant for the coveted prize, was only three points behind the two winners.

Luchi's theme, "Death Versus A White Powder," treated the comparatively new sulfa drug, while Donahue's essay, "Death Before Birth," dealt with the causes of the incubator death of baby chicks before they have hatched.

The cash award of $50 which will be divided between the winners on commencement day, is presented by William A. Haney, director of en-

Decorate Armory For Sweet Music By Freddy Nagel

Saturday night, May 8, will be the night of nights on St. Joseph's social calendar; for it will be the night of the long-awaited spring Prom, sponsored annually by the Monogram Club.

Popular Freddy Nagel and the youthful, refreshing music of his famous dance orchestra will be here; so will favorite home-town girls and happy St. Joe fellows. To add to the color, the large Rensselaer Armory will be patriotically decorated in keeping with the times. Climax of Social Life

For the seniors this year's prom will be the climax of their social activities at St. Joseph's. For others it may be the last formal spurge before entrance into military service. For all, next Saturday even-

Bulletin

Notice was received by the Rev. Edward Roof, C.P.P.S., moderator of the Monogram Club, that Freddy Nagel and his orchestra will be unable to play at the Spring Prom Saturday evening.

The notice, which came in the form of a telegram from Jim Breyley, booker for the Music Corporation of America, stated that Nagel has been reclassified and has to report for induction.

As yet, another band has not been selected.

ing should be an unforgettable one, one, to be stored in college days' memories.

Lest we forget, the decorations, planned by the Rev. Dr. Paul Speckbaugh, C.P.P.S., and committee-headsman, Conny Vanderkolk, will have a patriotic motif, which will include the representation of the different branches of service. Electrical technician on the committee is the Rev. Albert Wuest, C.P.P.S.

Special CLS Meeting

A special meeting of the Columbian Literary Society will be held tonight (Wednesday) to make final arrangements for some form of entertainment for the club members before the year ends.

All the members of the faculty of the Science department with the exception of Fr. Baechle acted as judges for the contest. Eligibility for the contest is restricted to juniors and seniors of the college.

DRIFT

(Editorial)

The end of the 1942-43 school year is rapidly approaching. In another two weeks it will have passed away into memory, and there will be new years, new obstacles to face. It is characteristic of people, who have come this far and are approaching the conclusion, to look back over what they have accomplished in the months gone past, to make new resolutions for the months, and years to come.

Just as a whole lifetime's work can be easily destroyed in one do, so can it be filled with new vigor, new determination. Think back over the days, weeks, and months that have passed. Think: are you satisfied with what was accomplished? No one should be too well pleased; for there was always an opportunity to do better. Yet there should be a certain pleasure, a feeling of well-being that comes with work done and done as it should have been.

Tomorrow, the college campus will seem far away. The associations for which it stood will be but "a lump in the throat." But the things which were learned here should be stored away, ready for instant use in the crises which must inevitably follow the embarkation of another phase of one's life. If a man had only learned what it means to be alive—in the fullest, truest sense, of that word—he would have plumbed the secret for which all men seek.

Sunday night, eight students of the Oratory Class will speak from the stage of the College Theatre in the annual contest designed to give them a larger outlet for self-expression. Back of them will be two years of intensive study in the art they portray; back of them will be long hours of preparation for just that night.

If there is anything that is needed in our world it is that training in self-assertiveness, for out of just such training grow the leaders in thought, word, and speech for tomorrow. It has been charged—and not too falsely in the past—that the average college student adopts a complacent attitude towards the changing world about him. That charge could certainly never be hurled at these eight men, whose topics Sunday night will reflect considerable thought upon subjects of vital importance and interest in our times.

A whole lesson might indeed be drawn from their efforts if they were viewed from the light of student initiative and ambition, to say nothing of perseverance. Understanding this to be true, every student on the campus should feel an obligation to attend the contest, to take away from their speeches whatever thought may be embodied, to endeavor to grow in intellectual stature—for that is the purpose of a college education.

Following the Flickers

With Dick Schreiber

BROADWAY IS MOVING TO HOLLYWOOD. Or so it would seem from a quick perusal of the casts of recent pictures, particularly of musical films. "Cabin in the Sky," for example, which was here last Sunday, had practically an entire cast from the Great White Way. "Something to Shout About," due on the screen this weekend, introduces Bill Gaxton, who won his spurs on the legit stage, and Hazel Scott, the dynamic boogie-woogie piano girl, blossomed out of the canyon somewhere near Broadway and 42nd Streets.

The transition may be a good thing for Hollywood; it certainly won't impair Broadway. The nation's film capitol has been in sore straits for sometime in its search for "talent," and the actors are forever wandering back to taste that unforgettable something which is the real, living stage—the bright lights of Gotham.

Now for the reviews.

RITZ: Friday &amp; Saturday

"Night Plane to Chungking," starring Robert Preston and Ellen Drew, is just another of the long, long string of war films from which there occasionally springs something good and different. So far as this flicker is concerned, the spring is a poor, limping gesture. Legion Rating: Unavailable.

RITZ: Sunday, Monday, Tuesday

How many pictures have been made about the good old days when the Palace Theatre was the Valhalla of the Vaudeville world would be hard to say. Don Ameche, Janet Blair, and Jack Oakie are in a new one along those lines, called "Something to Shout About." Legion Rating: B.

PALACE: Sunday, Monday, Tuesday

"Flight for Freedom" is a sort of pre-war "mellodrammer" which might have been inspired by the late Amelia Earhart. Rosalind Russell, Fred MacMurray, and Herbert Marshall are the leads. Legion Rating: B.

RITZ: Wednesday &amp; Thursday

Jim Craig and Bonita Granville appear in "Seven Miles from Alcatraz," which is a story about a fugitive who has a greater fight than his own freedom on his hands. It is modeled somewhat after the pattern of Graham Greene's "This Gun For Hire." More than that your writer cannot say, except that Miss Granville has been showing up well of late as a girl who someday may become an actress—unless Hollywood builds her up for a "glamour gal."

CAMPUS CAPERS

If you ever want to deal with two Maxwell Specials, try bargaining with Ted (cent) Swierczek and Chet (two cent) Skrabacz. They will take your money, but are very slow in giving you the goods. . . . When Phase was given out, the fellows hid out in basements, rooms, etc., in order to see their pictures alone. We heard of two cases which almost resulted in fright death. . . . It won't be long now and the Prom will take place. Ah, the campus will be in full swing and the sound of small feet will be heard on the pavement. Men will be walking to and fro with clean faces, combed hair and money in their pockets. The following Monday St. Joe will be back to normal. The same fellows will be walking to and fro with dirty faces, mussed hair and no money. Yes, St. Joe will be back to normal once again. . . . We heard some freshman saying something which we thought was very cute. His pet phrase was, "Flunk early and avoid the rush." Received a letter from our old pal Charley Hankish. He said that we should keep an eye on Leroy Huenefeld, because Leroy still has his shirt. . . . Little Bill Milford is taking boxing lessons these days, because he is gunning for Kentucky Bill Smith. We couldn't get the reason why. . . . Ed (Polski) Adent is flashing a new jig sport coat. Every color in the spectrum is on that coat. The price of the coat is----? If you have heard of a big time operator lately who really was a B.T.O., you must have heard of Pee Wee Shaw. Now that he is coach of the high school track team he is the biggest B.T.O. to operate in these parts. He will autograph anyone's year book who will call at his office and make the appointment with his secretary. John McCabe. The biggest scare in Noll Hall is not the supervision of the prefects, but the fear of being drafted. That hall has a jinx on it, for most of the fellows getting their call seemingly live in Noll. Notice the jittery atmosphere surrounding that hall the next time you run by it. . . .

Reporter Asks Student Opinion On Corsages

By Vincent Giese

Next Saturday evening will show many of the best girls of St. Joe students wearing war stamp corsages in place of the customary floral corsages at the Monogram Club Prom.

There has been some discussion on the campus of late about the appropriateness of war stamp corsages. Generally the opinion has been in favor of them. Why shouldn't it be? Certainly they will not look amiss in these times. In fact, they are very beautiful, something any girl should be proud to display. Then, there is the pleasant thought of cashing the stamps in later on. Perhaps they won't smell as fragrant as the customary type of corsages; but maybe fragrance has to be rationed nowadays too.

This week, STUFF went to the students to ask their opinion on war stamp corsages. Incidentally, Father Edward Roof, moderator of the Monogram Club, is very much pleased with the sample which was sent to him. He said he was pleasantly surprised and also very much in favor of them now that he has seen them.

Bill Smith, senior from Louisville, Ky., "I think the war stamp corsages are quite in keeping with the times. Since girls wear corsages as a matter of formality, why can't they wear war stamp corsages, which serve the same purpose."

Bob Kelly, sophomore from Gary, Indiana, "As far as we are all war-minded and since flowers are hard to get at present, I think war stamp corsages, though something different as far as proms go, are a fine idea and will prove very satisfactory to the girls."

Joe Reinman, senior from Leipsic, Ohio, "War stamp corsages show one of the outstanding exhibitions of college patriotism. They aren't so colorful; but the girls should appreciate the fact that the fellows are being patriotic."

Henry Kauffmann, sophomore from Louisville, Ky., "I think war stamp corsages will serve as an appropriate reminder lest we forget what kind of situations some prom-goers will be in on this night."

Senior Sketches

By Don Leavitt

This week we present another one of St. Joseph's great athletes in the person of Stanley Wisniewski, more popularly known as "Curly" to the students. Ever since he came to St. Joe in the fall of 1939, Curly has been performing for the Puma teams.

Wisniewski, was born in Chicago on January 2, 1919, attended Weber high school, where he earned quite a name for himself in football and basketball. While matriculating at the Chicago school, Curly played two years of football and two of basketball.

Curly's athletic ability reached its peak after his enrollment at St. Joseph's. He has played four years of football and two years of basketball, track and baseball as a Puma. In football he performed at the half-back post and did a brilliant job of passing. On the hardwood he held down his position well as a speedy little guard. And in baseball, Curly has chased fly-balls for the past two seasons.

Curly's short stature and unimposing physique are no measure of his ability as an athlete, for time and again he has shown the stamina and spirit typical of Puma athletes.

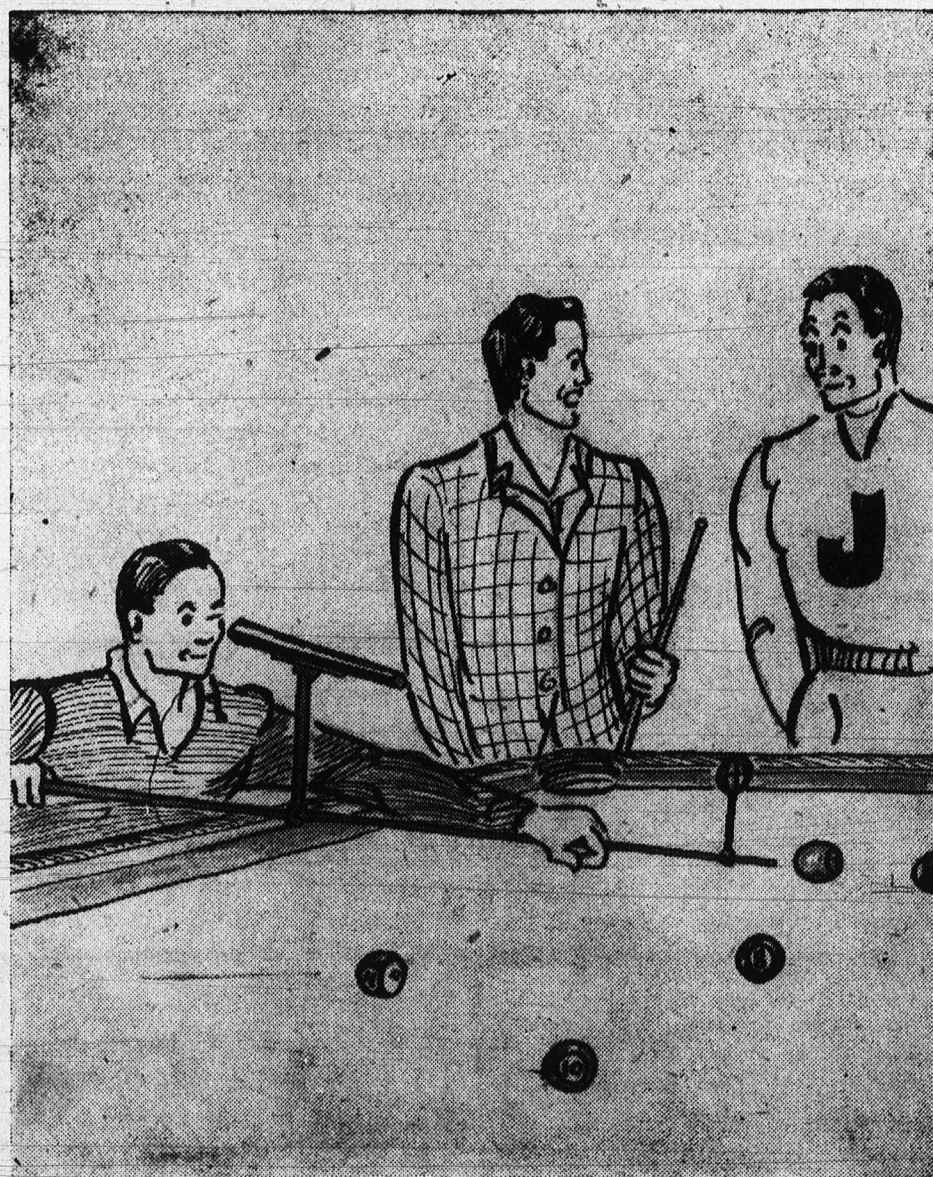

When not engaged in athletics, Curly takes part in the activities of the Raleigh and Monogram Clubs. Majoring in Physical Education, he hopes to obtain a coaching job after graduation.

If bad weather holds off long enough, a tennis tournament will be held next week. Anyone who wishes may compete for the trophy which will be awarded the winner.

The boys broadcasting the Purdue-St. Joe contests apparently were impressed by George Ellspermann's past record and his heavy swatting in the first game. They took him up to the "mike" for a lengthy interview between games.

At this writing the baseball nine is leading the Indiana Conference. Last year the Pumas annexed the conference crown with ten wins against one loss.

It is generally considered good in major leagues for a double-play to start with the third baseman. In the Purdue games, however, Gil Hodges started two twin-killings near third base. Murphy was the pivot man in the first play, Sokol, in the other.

The first tennis match scheduled with Depauw was rained out and the second cancelled since the Depauw semester ended last week. The result is that there has been no varsity tennis activity as yet.

Bill Stechschulte is the leading Puma pitcher according to records. Bill has received credit for two victories, one in a relief role, with no losses charged against him. Al Waznis, veteran of the hurling staff, has one victory and two marks against him. Tony Sandrick has two losses.

John Judge, the only freshman regular on the baseball team, is doing quite all right in the hitting department besides being a flashy fielder. John is second among the hitters, having clubbed out a .300 average in the first seven games.

Cubs Fall By Wayside As Culver, Oxford Win

Even though Jack Mallock hit a long triple to deep left field with the bases loaded, the Academy Cubs lost their game, 8-5, last Saturday with the Culver Military Academy. Mallock, who led the Cub pack in hitting, batted in three runners and scored two himself. Jim Stang, making his debut on the mound for St. Joe, struck out seven of the Cadets. He might easily have won the game if the hitting had been better.

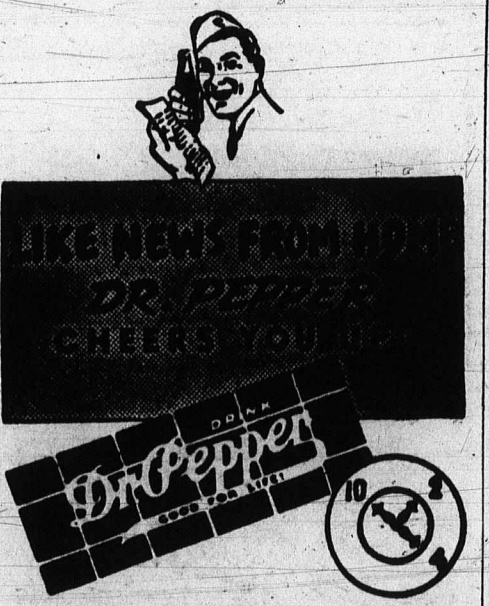

Playing Oxford Monday afternoon on the St. Joseph's diamond, the Cubs also lost 11-4.

Another Measure Soon Editor Goetz Promises

Hoping to have the spring-summer edition of Measure, campus literary journal, ready for press by the end of school, John Goetz, newly-appointed editor of the magazine, has already initiated plans for the final edition. A meeting of the staff was held recently and some work on the coming issue has already been completed.

Because of the difficulties in printing this year, each successive issue of Measure has been somewhat tardier in its publication than the previous one. But even with these obstacles in mind, editor Goetz hopes to have the final copy in the hands of the students before they leave the campus for their summer vacation.

The new issue of Measure will carry some novel work by Len Heriges, along with the results of a poll on Catholic drama compiled by Ralph Bushell and a similar poll on Catholic fiction with the results compiled by Kay Kennedy. Other articles for the edition are as yet indefinite.

Twin-Bill Prom Day To Feature Four Puma Home Games

St. Joe fans have three opportunities within a week to witness the Puma baseball aggregation in action. Today (Wednesday) Butler invades the local diamond in their first meeting with St. Joseph's. An engagement scheduled before Easter with the Bulldogs on their own lot was cancelled but will be played off sometime next week.

Saturday afternoon will provide plenty of entertainment for the prom-goers. Illinois Wesleyan comes to Collegeville to play opposite the Pumas in a doubleheader. Earlier in the season, (April 17), the Titans were subdued by the Pumas, 7-3.

Purdue, who clipped Dienhart's sticklers twice last Saturday, meet the Pumas in a return engagement on the local field next Monday.

The Cardinals and Purple's record of three victories and four defeats should undergo a change for the better during the week. Butler appears to be on the same level as St. Joe, and consequently a close battle is on deck.

The Titans from across the border will undoubtedly furnish more trouble to Capt. Boyle and Co. than they did three weeks ago. At that time they outthit the Pumas but were victims of a St. Joe four-run outburst in the first inning.

With a little more luck, the Pumas may turn back the Boilermakers. Both halves of last Saturday's double-bill were lost by late inning Purdue rallies. The Big Ten team, however, will have acquired some experience in their own league by that time.

Rainy Weather Slows Down I-M Softball

Bad weather, Easter vacation, and about everything else have combined to limit intramural softball activity to five games. The results of games played thus far are:

|          |    |         |   |
|----------|----|---------|---|
| Silk     | 23 | Kuhajda | 1 |
| Huysman  | 6  | Davey   | 3 |

Scout Troops Visit Science Laboratories

Two troops of Rensselaer Scouts, made up of four Scoutmasters and twenty-five boys, visited the campus Monday night and made a tour of the various laboratories in Science Hall. The trip was arranged by Mr. Paul Gates, of Rensselaer, who is the college baker.

The Scouts were shown through the labs by the Rev. John W. Baechle, C.P.P.S., in the Geology lab, they heard Chet Skrabacz describe the collections to be found there.

Pumas Down Illinois Wesleyan; Lose Two Games With Purdue

Starting off with four runs in the first inning, the St. Joe baseball team had no difficulties in subduing Illinois Wesleyan, 7-3. The successful invasion of Bloomington on April 17 changed the Puma record to three wins in five starts.

Veteran Al Waznis received credit for his first mound victory; he pitched steady ball throughout the contest. George Ellspermann and Gil Hodges led the hitters, each collecting two hits out of four attempts.

Lady luck refused to smile upon the Pumas, and the result was two heart-breaking losses to their Big-Ten foe, Purdue. In both of the seven-inning contests, the Pumas were leading 2-1 entering the last half of the sixth.

In the first engagement, Eddie Eilers, Purdue third baseman, drove in two runs with a triple to break up the battle. The second contest found the Boilermakers tying the count in the sixth and pushing across the third run in the final frame.

Al Waznis granted but three hits in the opener, but the Boilermakers bunched their bingles with walks and errors to produce their counters. Tony Sandrick hurled in the second half of the double-bill but was unable to prevent the Purdue team from copping both games.

South American Visitors Tell Of Inter-American Relations

Sponsored by the Commerce Club, a panel discussion on inter-American affairs was presented in the College Theatre, Friday, April 16, by members of the La Raza Club from the University of Notre Dame.

The entire panel of speakers was composed of South American students studying at Notre Dame, with all only recently acquainted with the English language. As explained by the Rev. William Cunningham, C.P.P.S., club moderator, the primary aim of the La Raza Club is not only to spread a spirit of Pan-Americanism but also to give the members experience in addressing groups in the English tongue.

Chairman of the group was Francisco Replado of Santiago, Cuba, a junior in the College of Engineering. Other speakers were Reno Otero of Bolivia, Samuel Munzo of Colombia, and Jose Cardenas of Panama.

A touch of color was added to the program through the vivacity of Mr. Replado, the chairman, and a Spanish rendition of the song "Amapola."

Many Outsiders See Science Day Exhibit

With a host of out-of-town guests attending, the second annual Science Day Exhibit turned out to be a heartening success. The exhibit was held Sunday, April 18, in Science Hall. Even with transportation problems discouraging many visitors, the exhibit still attracted a much larger attendance than was noted at the first exhibit last year.

Presented by the Albertus Magnus Society in conjunction with the faculty, the exhibit was labeled "Science and War" and various demonstrations were set up in the Biology, Chemistry, Geology and Physics laboratories showing how science is helping to win the war. Members of the Albertus Magnus group assisted by faculty members of the Science department performed the experiments and explained the procedure to the audience.

Fr. Lefko Addresses Curtain Club Group

At the meeting of the Curtain Club last Tuesday evening, the Rev. John Lefko, C.P.P.S., of St. John's, Whiting, spoke to the members. Father Lefko, who is moderator of the C.Y.O. dramatic club in Whiting, chose as his subject of discussion the Cradle Song by Martinez-Sierra.

A one-act play Dock, Duck, Block was also presented. The two parts were taken by Roman Rodak and Leonard Burghardt.

Annual Band Concert Has Pleased Audience

Responding to an appreciative audience, the college band, under the direction of Professor Paul Tonner, gave excellent interpretation to a widely varied program on April 17.

Of the eighteen pieces played, it is hard to choose the finest. The interpretation in "Indian Love Call" was really splendid, but the beauty of the choral singing of "Beautiful Dreamer" against a background of the softly playing band was "tops."

Some, too, preferred "Jubel" or "Spick and Span" overture, while the swing lovers naturally took to "As Time Goes By."

All in all, it was a finely chosen and well-interpreted program. Professor Tonner deserves much credit for his work in molding a band which is able to please so varied an audience.

Community Boys Keep Campus Alive Easter

Campus activities slowed down considerably when the students went home over Easter. However, the Community Students helped keep things moving along. Services of Holy Week took up most of the time. Credit is due in particular to Lavern Sweeterman and his two helpers, Fred Geschwind and Fred Hunnefeld, for the decoration of the repository on Holy Thursday, the high altar and sanctuary on Easter.

Construct New Road Behind Xavier Hall

For the sake of beauty and utility, a two-lane road is being built south of Xavier Hall. It is to take the place of the narrow winding road that formerly served as a service road to the kitchen.

The new road, in addition to providing a passage for service cars, is to be a beauty spot on the campus. It is bordered by rows of European Elms which will some day be a sight to compare to the Silver Maples along the main entrance.

DMU Elects Officers For Next Schoolyear

Members of the Dwenger Mission Unit met Sunday in the last session of the year. The business in hand was election of officers for the next school year. Taking over the offices next September will be the following: Murar, president; Eilerman, vice-president; Wise, secretary; Stang, treasurer; Hinders, librarian; and Stegman, chairman of the program committee.

ERC Army Call

C.P.P.S., military representative on the campus, had this to say about the notices. "I have been expecting them to come right along. The other men in the ERC will probably be called now, too, within a very short time."

Although no official word has come from the Headquarters of the Fifth Service Command, Ft. Hayes, Ohio, it would seem that the Enlisted Reserves will be called according to districts from which they come. (This practice was followed, for instance, at Ohio State University.)

Pursley Closes

Now that the deadline for all entries in the Mary J. Pursley Creative Writing Contest has passed, the Rev. Paul F. Speckbaugh, C.P.P.S., Chairman of the Department of English, disclosed that there were thirty entries submitted before the contest closed last Saturday evening, May 1. This number included short stories, dramas, poems, and several essays.

Since the selection of the three judges has not been made, no definite date has been set for announcement of the winner, who will receive a first prize of fifty dollars.

Father Speckbaugh expressed satisfaction both with the increased number entered in this year's contest and with the growing enthusiasm being shown by the students toward this annual award.

The Academy Corner

By Bob Richert

A few days before Easter vacation, the basketball letters and honor sweaters for the past season were awarded the members of the team. Those receiving letters were Mike Cody, Howard Spresser, Jim Dobe, Bob Meiners, John Wunderlich, Jim Quinliven, Fred Hunnefeld, John Hinders, manager Jim McHugh, and cheerleader Earl Redden. Those players also receiving sweaters were B. Meiners, J. Wunderlich, J. Quinliven, F. Hunnefeld, J. Hinders, and J. McHugh. After the letters and sweaters were awarded it was announced that all the players, freshmen included, could spend the evening uptown.

Since Bob Meiners, who has been manager of the baseball team for the past two years, is now playing on the team, Bob McNamara has taken over Meiner's duties as manager. He is ably assisted by his newly appointed helper, Earl Redden. Both boys are doing a fine job for the team.

From a reliable source of information we hear that Rudy Gildehaus has been demoted from vice-president of the "B.T.O.s" to an ordinary "S.T.O." and that Earl Redden has taken over Rudy's former position as vice-president. We are still trying to find out just what Mr. Gildehaus did to merit this demotion to the minor leagues.

For three days following his return to the campus from his vacation, Eddie Joseph looked and acted as if he could fall asleep anytime, anyplace. We wonder what Eddie did to cause something like that.

Friday afternoon the Academy track team traveled to Fowler to take part in a quadrangular meet. Although no individual of this institution placed in any event, the relay team composed of Carlos, Cody, Vincent, and Comandella, came in third in the relay race.

Since it has been necessary for Eddie Joseph to retire from the cast of the Newman Club play because of other pressing duties, Jim Quinliven has taken over Eddie's part and Pete Beltimachi has been added to the cast to play the character vacated by Jim. Practices are being held nightly and the play should be ready for presentation within two weeks.

When Jim Carney is called to active duty in the Navy Air Corps, Richard Latendresse says that he is going to cash in all his war bonds. Since when did Latendresse ever have enough money to buy war stamps, let alone bonds?
